Providing affordable, accessible banking
CIBC offers a wide range of products and services tailored to our clients’ needs and preferences.

For people looking for affordable banking solutions, we offer products like the CIBC Everyday Chequing Account with a low monthly fee, a choice of several no annual fee Visa cards, including a new no annual fee CIBC Platinum Visa card, and competitive mortgage rates with the variable-rate CIBC Better Than Prime Mortgage and the fixed-rate CIBC Better Than Posted Mortgage.

President’s Choice Financial (PCF), CIBC’s co-venture with Loblaw Companies Limited, is a cost-effective banking alternative, accessible through in-store pavilions, ABMs, online and by phone. This year, PCF introduced a new high-interest savings account with anniversary bonus interest and no daily banking fees.

For youth and seniors, CIBC offers free banking through CIBC SmartStart Program for Kids and CIBC Advantage for Seniors. Students of any age have access to products like the CIBC Education Line of Credit and the CIBC Advantage for Students account, which offers a discounted fee. This year we also increased loan limits on the Professional Edge Student Personal Line of Credit and extended the offer to a broader group of professionals returning to school.

Through our Aboriginal banking team, CIBC provides access to financial services for Aboriginal clients. CIBC’s seven on-reserve branches and an on-reserve agency branch also serve clients in remote locations. This year we continued to support the development of financial literacy, introducing a Personal Financial Planning program in several Aboriginal communities. CIBC invested more than $900,000 in national and local programs that support the Aboriginal community, including The National Aboriginal Achievement Foundation.

CIBC also makes every effort to staff branches in a way that reflects the language preferences of the communities we serve, including addressing the needs of the large Chinese community in Canada through our Asian banking team. In its Diversity in Canada 2006 report, Solutions Research Group Consultants Inc. ranked CIBC 2nd among all Canadian banks in serving the Chinese, South Asian and Italian communities in Canada.

Working with partners in the mortgage insurance industry, CIBC continues to enhance programs to help newcomers to Canada. For those newcomers who may not have established a Canadian credit history and banking relationship, CIBC helps to meet their banking and borrowing needs.

CIBC is committed to making banking easier and more readily accessible for visually and hearing impaired clients, the elderly and persons with restricted mobility. We have surveyed 589 of our 1,055 branches, 370 of those in 2006, to CIBC’s Access for All ABMs are installed at wheelchair accessible height and include headphone jacks for audio access; grab bars for persons with mobility impairments; and improved lighting to assist elderly and partially-sighted clients.

Chequing and savings account clients can choose to receive quarterly statements or select our paperless recordkeeping option.

understand potential physical barriers that might impact our clients’ experience, including parking, building and vestibule access, main branch circulation and counter access. Most CIBC branches in our national network are now equipped with at least one CIBC Access for All ABM.

CIBC has one of the largest multi-channel distribution networks of the Canadian banks. We provide 24/7 access to banking services through our ABMs, online banking and telephone banking channels. This year we introduced additional online and ABM features to make it easier for clients to manage their finances remotely. For clients who prefer to have someone come to their home to discuss mortgages, we offer mortgage services through our mobile HLC Home Loans Canada sales force.

CIBC clients can access 49 mutual funds that meet sustainable performance criteria set out by the Social Investment Organization. CIBC offers the CIBC Enviro-Saver Rebate to eligible mortgage clients who have purchased an energy-efficient home or who make energy saving improvements to an existing home, resulting in a savings of 10% on their CMHC Mortgage insurance premium.

Committed to small and medium-sized businesses
Small businesses are vital to Canada’s long-term economic prosperity and CIBC is committed to supporting the success of small business owners. In 2006, we conducted a study to help understand where and how our small business clients bank and how we can better serve their personal and business needs.

To make banking more accessible and convenient, small business owners can now open business accounts in all CIBC branches. We also broadened remote services to include the ability to apply for credit by phone or online.

This year, we added a customization feature on our small business Convenience Card that allows owners to delegate select banking duties to employees. We also offer a choice of no annual fee and annual fee-based Small Business Visa cards with added value features and rates as low as CIBC prime plus 1.5% per year.

CIBC invests in youth through programs like the CIBC Student Entrepreneur of the Year Award, Canada’s Outstanding Young Farmers Program, Junior Achievement and the Canadian 4-H Council.

We continued to strengthen sales and service delivery to agricultural clients in 2006 through our experienced team of Agricultural Banking Specialists who understand the unique financial needs of agricultural business owners.

CIBC’s support of growing Canadian businesses continues. This year, CIBC Commercial Banking launched CEO Connect, a client-only internet site hosting articles, research, webcasts, CEO videos and best practices for executives at mid-sized Canadian organizations.

Respecting our clients

We are committed to treating our clients with respect and integrity, providing products and services in a responsible, professional manner and safeguarding our clients’ personal information and privacy.

“Our Service Commitment to You”, available in branches and online, outlines our commitment to ensuring we provide clients with service that exceeds their expectations, provides fee transparency, and ensures privacy protection and confidentiality. We make every effort to resolve clients’ concerns quickly. We introduced enhanced standards and information for branch employees this year to better enable them to resolve concerns at the first point of contact. If a satisfactory resolution is not reached, the client is referred to a trained specialist in our Customer Care Centre or to the CIBC Ombudsman’s office.

Privacy continues to be a priority at CIBC. Maintaining the confidentiality of client information is a fundamental tenet of our relationship with clients. In fiscal 2006, we updated and enhanced CIBC’s “Your Privacy is Protected” brochure. The updated brochure outlines our commitment to client privacy and the steps our clients can take to safeguard the privacy and security of their personal information.

The CIBC Code of Conduct provides employees with guidelines consistent with our values of Trust, Teamwork and Accountability, clearly outlining their responsibilities towards clients.

CIBC will continue to invest in enhanced programs, procedures and training to ensure we fulfill our commitment to our clients.

For information on branch openings and closings, ABM installations and removals and listed affiliates’ debt financing to firms in Canada, please refer to pages 144 to 148.

The CIBC Spirit of Leadership Community Award recognizes CIBC Commercial Banking clients who demonstrate excellence in community spirit and corporate giving. The Makivik Corporation was an award recipient in December 2005 for their Arctic Clean-Up Mission.
Our Employees

Through CIBC’s generous contributions, the Lesbian & Gay Community Appeal was able to support the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender community in the areas of education, health, social services and arts and culture. CIBC employees were instrumental in supporting our efforts to ensure the delivery of these programs.

David Brownstone, Co-Chair, Lesbian & Gay Community Appeal
Supportive employee environment

Creating a supportive work environment for our employees builds employee commitment and supports CIBC’s overall performance and success. CIBC regularly measures our employee commitment through a biennial employee survey. The most recent survey was completed in 2005 and showed an increase in the employee commitment score from 68 to 72. Survey results also indicated a high level of awareness of CIBC’s vision, mission and values. Our annual survey of executive values also highlighted the group’s commitment to CIBC’s values of trust, teamwork and accountability.

In 2006 we laid the foundation for a five-year plan to proactively develop and sustain CIBC’s leadership capability. A new employee development course for the next level of leadership focused on CIBC’s vision, mission and values was also launched.

CIBC is committed to building a positive and supportive environment for employees. CIBC’s Code of Conduct is one of the ways we promote CIBC’s values. It guarantees every employee the right to be respected, to receive fair and equitable treatment, to be free from harassment or discrimination, and to be protected from retaliation if they report a contravention of the Code. All employees are required to complete annual certification and testing on the Code.

An award-winning orientation program for all new employees was launched to ensure that employees receive a consistent orientation to CIBC and how we operate. We also introduced a new orientation module for executives. In addition, a new series of training programs for employees and managers was launched that sets expectations, supports an organizational culture of respect and trust and ensures CIBC workplaces are healthy, safe and secure.

In 2006, we invested approximately $56 million globally, or $1,500 per employee, on training including governance and regulatory compliance, client service, product knowledge and a broad range of business and technical skills.

At CIBC, employment equity is a clear priority. In 2005, CIBC achieved its representation goals for three of the four designated groups: women, visible minorities and persons with disabilities. Representation goals are based on national labour market availability rates provided by Statistics Canada for each of the designated groups. We continue our efforts to maintain our representation levels, while focusing on recruitment and retention of Aboriginal peoples to close our remaining gap.

In 2006, CIBC convened its first National Employment Equity and Diversity Congress. The Congress focused on the development of CIBC’s 150 events including panel discussions, employee workshops, open houses and cultural festivals.

At the Board of Directors level, women continued to hold five of the 18 director positions. As part of our ongoing Board renewal program, we regularly assess the skills and characteristics of CIBC Board members against current and anticipated needs, enabling the Board to maintain the appropriate skill set to oversee CIBC’s businesses.

A focus on performance

CIBC’s Performance Management and Measurement (PMM) system uses a balanced scorecard approach including financial results, client relationships, operational efficiency, strategic priorities and key competencies to assess employee performance. The PMM process allows employees to understand and take ownership of their contribution to the achievement of business goals and is directly tied to year-end compensation through variable incentive awards.

A priority for the Senior Executive Team (SET) in 2006 was ensuring a consistent set of goals was used by the entire SET. The common goals were to:

- Support CIBC’s vision, mission and values and adhere to CIBC’s stated governance and regulatory environment
- Meet 2006 strategic plan
- Deliver on talent management and succession plans
- Achieve productivity goals

These goals were also used to develop scorecards for the balance of the executive group. The PMM process continues to be an important performance management tool and 80% of full- and part-time employees had written scorecards in place in 2006.

Managing performance is key to building long-term, sustainable growth for CIBC, our employees and our shareholders. The foundation of our compensation next three-year (2007–2009) Employment Equity and Diversity Plan. The event included a recognition ceremony to celebrate our employees’ contributions to enhancing diversity awareness and furthering diversity initiatives across CIBC. June 2006 marked CIBC’s 14th Annual Diversity Month. During the month, CIBC employees organized more than CIBC’s backup child care program provides emergency child care services to employees in Canada and the United States.

In 2006 CIBC invested approximately $56 million globally in employee training.
philosophy is pay-for-performance. At CIBC, total compensation typically includes base salary and variable incentive awards, in addition to CIBC’s comprehensive benefits and pension programs.

CIBC’s pay-for-performance philosophy rewards individuals for results that are aligned with CIBC’s overall strategy for building sustainable, long-term value. We also strive to recognize and reward our employees who consistently make outstanding contributions through our formal employee recognition program.

Health and well-being
Creating a safe and healthy work environment where all employees can balance their work and life effectively and contribute to their communities is very important. CIBC is committed to providing a comprehensive range of benefits that support the overall health, wellness and long-term financial security of employees.

To assist in managing rising health care costs, CIBC advocates a smart consumer approach to employee health care. Employees are encouraged to take advantage of CIBC-negotiated discounts, discuss the use of generic drugs with their doctors and use pharmacies with lower dispensing fees to proactively manage costs for the employee and for CIBC.

CIBC also uses an innovative, preventative health care program called Wellness Checkpoint, a confidential, online assessment tool that identifies health risks and provides information on achieving a healthier lifestyle and general health resources.

Launched in 2001, almost 10,000 employees have completed the Checkpoint.

CIBC’s Employee Assistance Program provides employees with access to confidential counselling and professional advice to assist with a broad range of concerns.

CIBC continues to lead the industry with Employment Insurance top-up benefits during maternity, parental, adoption and compassionate care leave. Approximately 64% of CIBC employees participate in the employee share purchase plan which allows employees to participate in CIBC’s future growth and prosperity through investment in common shares.

In 2005, CIBC reported a Disabling Injury Incidence Rate of 0.22, which indicates the number of disabling and fatal injuries on the job, per 100 employees, in Canada.

In 2006, CIBC’s group of companies paid almost $2.4 billion in salaries and benefits to our Canadian workforce. CIBC’s global turnover rate for permanent employees, excluding retirees, was 15.6%. The increase from 2005 was partly a result of CIBC’s productivity initiatives.

Commitment
As a leader in community investment, CIBC is committed to supporting causes that matter to our clients, our employees and our communities. We aim to make a difference in communities we call home through corporate donations, sponsorships and through the volunteer spirit of our employees.

Priorities
- Increase participation and funds raised through the CIBC Run for the Cure
- Promote increased awareness and participation in the CIBC World Markets Miracle Day
- Greater employee participation and total funds raised for the United Way
- Encourage employee volunteerism with community-based organizations

Measures
- Participation and funds raised for the CIBC Run for the Cure, CIBC World Markets Miracle Day and the United Way
- Number of employees who participate in the Employee as Ambassador Program
- Imagine Canada Caring Company designation
- External rankings for corporate citizenship/philanthropy

“CIBC’s partnership with the Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation is exemplary. This is not just a unique relationship, but a model relationship. CIBC’s dedication to our mission and vision, its passion and commitment to the cause and the employee spirit have helped make the Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation CIBC Run for the Cure one of the country’s most prestigious events in support of breast cancer research, education and awareness.”

George Habib, Executive Director, Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation
Making a difference
In 2006, the CIBC group of companies contributed more than $36 million globally to charitable and non-profit initiatives. Of this, $28 million was invested in Canada, including more than $21 million in charitable donations, supporting a wide variety of national, regional and local organizations, with a strategic focus on youth, education and health. To see examples of CIBC's contributions to community organizations by province, see page 149. For information on taxes paid in Canada, see page 148.

CIBC Youthvision
Funding initiatives aimed at helping young people achieve their full potential is a priority of our community investment program. In 2006, we contributed more than $11 million toward this goal. CIBC funds hundreds of initiatives that support education, mentoring, skills development, financial literacy training, nutrition and health, anti-bullying, youth shelters and programs for young people with physical, emotional and intellectual disabilities.

CIBC Youthvision Scholarship Program
CIBC supports the education of young people with a multi-year commitment of $7.5 million to fund scholarships and internships through a unique partnership with Big Brothers Big Sisters of Canada and YMCA Canada. Thirty scholarships, valued at up to $34,000 each, are awarded annually to Grade 10 students enrolled in mentoring programs with these two community partners. In addition to tuition support, recipients may participate in summer internships at YMCA agencies across the country after completing Grade 11. Since its inception, 240 scholarships have been awarded across Canada.

CIBC World Markets Children’s Foundation
On the first Wednesday of December every year, CIBC World Markets sales and trading professionals and CIBC Wood Gundy Investment Advisors in Canada and around the world help create miracles for children. On this day, fees and commissions are donated to children's charities. On December 7th, 2005, CIBC World Markets Miracle Day raised $10.5 million globally, including $3.7 million in Canada. Since 1984, Miracle Day has raised over $168 million to benefit children's charities in our communities around the world.

This year, the CIBC World Markets Children’s Foundation announced a major investment in children’s mental health. Four organizations working in the field of children’s mental health were selected to receive grants totaling $465,000.
Education
With a strategic focus on education, CIBC contributes millions of dollars each year to organizations and programs that will make a difference in helping young people fulfill their dreams. CIBC’s multi-year commitments to universities and colleges across Canada total $20 million. Of this, more than $6 million is directed to bursaries and scholarships to enable students to pursue post-secondary education.

CIBC contributes $100,000 each year to the National Aboriginal Achievement Foundation for bursaries and scholarships in post-secondary education. The purpose is to meet the financial needs of First Nations, Inuit and Métis students in their pursuit of excellence in all academic disciplines.

Health
CIBC contributes to organizations that promote the health and well-being of Canadians. We have multi-year commitments of more than $17 million to hospitals and health research facilities across Canada. Many of our contributions in health care fund the research and treatment of breast cancer.

Over 170,000 Canadians in 50 communities across the country came together on October 1, 2006 to unite in support of the fight against breast cancer.

Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation
CIBC Run for the Cure
Now in its tenth year as title sponsor, the Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation CIBC Run for the Cure is our flagship event. On October 1st, 2006, $23.4 million was raised in 50 communities, by more than 170,000 people dedicated to creating a future without breast cancer.

In 2006, CIBC was recognized by Frontier College with the Fitzpatrick Award for its contribution to the cause of literacy.

Over the past 15 years, the CIBC Run for the Cure has helped to raise more than $100 million with the aim of creating a future without breast cancer.

Year over year, more CIBC employees and retirees demonstrate their volunteer spirit in the communities where they live and work.

world without breast cancer. The CIBC Run for the Cure is the largest, one-day fundraising event in Canada and we take great pride in the contribution our employees have made to this important cause over the past 15 years.

Close to 10,000 people participated on Team CIBC in 2006, raising $2.7 million. In addition to their fundraising achievements, we are very proud of the CIBC employees who volunteer as local branch and Run champions, manage the on-site collection of registration fees and serve as local Run Directors in 16 of the 50 communities across Canada.

This year, the Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation CIBC Run for the Cure was presented with the Imagine Canada Community Partnership Award in recognition of its outstanding efforts in uniting communities in the fight against breast cancer. Imagine Canada is a national organization that champions corporate citizenship and encourages partnerships between charities, not-for-profit organizations and corporations to strengthen Canadian communities.

Employee as Ambassador Program
CIBC encourages volunteerism among its employees and retirees and supports their commitment to local activities through the Employee as Ambassador Program. Through this initiative, CIBC will donate up to $1,000 to charitable and not-for-profit community organizations where employees contribute their time and expertise. In 2006, 975 employees and retirees participated in this program, resulting in contributions of more than $575,000.

Through the Employee as Ambassador Program, Sandy Pound of Calgary received a donation of $1,000 for the Between Friends Club. Sandy volunteers at this charitable organization that provides year-round recreational and social programs for young people with disabilities.

United Way
As a leader in community investment, CIBC has a long tradition of supporting United Way agencies across the country. In 2005, in addition to corporate contributions of approximately $2.7 million, over $4.8 million was raised by employees and retirees who make personal contributions and champion fundraising activities throughout the year. The combined total of $7.5 million was contributed to 124 United Way agencies across Canada.

The 2006 CIBC United Way campaign theme was “Not all heroes wear capes,” to acknowledge the tremendous contribution our employees continue to make through their fundraising and volunteer efforts in support of local United Way agencies.

Close to 10,000 people participated on Team CIBC in 2006, raising $2.7 million. Not all heroes wear capes

Community matters to CIBC employees. That’s why over 9,000 CIBC employees volunteer or donate to United Way organizations. Their generosity helps in all kinds of ways. It helps children get a head start, adults attend after-school programs, people on the street access job training, women leave abusive relationships — and that’s just the start.

So we say thanks to our donors and volunteers — they’re the heroes of our community.

Our Environment

Commitment
CIBC is committed to being an environmentally responsible organization. We demonstrate this commitment through continuing enhancements to our environmental risk management policies and procedures, initiatives to minimize CIBC’s impact on the environment, promotion of environmental stewardship practices and support of strategically-aligned environmental organizations.

Priorities
- Strengthening our framework for environmental reviews in lending activities
- Understanding the implications of climate change
- Demonstrating environmental responsibility in our operations
- Researching best practices in biodiversity protection

Measures
- Update all environmental credit risk standards and procedures and re-adopt the Equator Principles
- Complete a study on the portfolio impacts of climate change
- Monitor and report on our key environmental performance indicators
- Collaborate with stakeholders on a strategy to consider biodiversity issues where appropriate

“CIBC has recognized the need for conservation and sustainable development of Canada’s boreal forest. We applaud CIBC’s leadership and willingness to work with a wide range of stakeholders to understand environmental risks while seeking opportunities to adapt business practices accordingly. The future of Canada’s boreal forest depends on such constructive and innovative attitude from all sectors.”

Larry Innes, Acting Director, Canadian Boreal Initiative
Demonstrating our commitment to the environment

CIBC is proud of its longstanding history of integrating environmental management into business activities. Our Environmental Risk Management (ERM) group is responsible for oversight of environmental issues across the organization, while our Real Estate group manages programs and initiatives to operate our branches and offices in an environmentally-conscious manner. The Environmental Management Committee, made up of several business and functional units, works to ensure that material environmental issues associated with CIBC’s operations are addressed.

CIBC participates in a variety of national and international environmental associations. We presently chair the North American Task Force of the United Nations Environment Programme’s Finance Initiative (UNEP FI) and are active members of the Canadian Bankers Association Environmental Issues Specialist Group and the Environmental Bankers Association.

We promote environmental awareness among our employees and clients through our “CIBC and the Environment” website, as well as information sessions and events. For example, in 2006, we held an Earth Week celebration in downtown Toronto and hosted a UNEP FI workshop on Environmental Risk Management, attended by 45 bankers from around the world.

Updating our credit standards and procedures

CIBC’s environmental risk management standards and procedures apply to all lending to small business, mid-market and large corporate sectors. In 2006, we updated our environmental risk management standards and procedures to make them easier for our clients, business managers and risk managers to understand and apply. As part of this update, we added climate change and biodiversity issues to the assessment process.

This year, CIBC was involved in the review and update of the Equator Principles, a framework for social and environmental review in project finance that we first adopted in 2003. CIBC renewed our commitment to the Equator Principles in July 2006. Since then, we have held several information sessions for our lenders and risk managers to review the Principles and their implementation. No new project finance, to which the Equator Principles would apply, was undertaken in 2006.

Responding to climate change

CIBC is establishing a Carbon Management Program to help address the challenges of climate change. Our focus has been on monitoring our carbon dioxide emissions, implementing energy efficiency improvements within our facilities and purchasing green power.

In 2006, we studied how climate change policy

In 2006, 8,363 tonnes of paper products were recycled across our branch network and office buildings.

In 2006, CIBC consumed 303 million litres of water, a reduction of 14% since 2004.

In 2006, CIBC continued to purchase Climate Neutral Carpet, installing over 17,000 square metres and offsetting approximately 358 tonnes of greenhouse gas emissions.
in Canada might affect our clients and CIBC’s loan portfolio. Based on our findings, we are developing carbon risk assessment tools and raising awareness regarding risks and opportunities associated with climate change and carbon markets.

CIBC is both a signatory to and participant in the Carbon Disclosure Project’s fourth information request (CDP4). The CDP4, which represents a group of 225 institutional investors with $31 trillion in assets under management, assesses how the largest companies in the world manage climate change issues. CIBC’s score of 75 was the highest among all banks in the Americas, based on the assessment in the CDP4 report. CIBC also played an advisory role in the CDP Canada initiative to promote enhanced corporate disclosure on climate change among TSX-listed companies.

CIBC is one of the largest purchasers of green power among the Canadian financial institutions. From 2003 to 2005, CIBC purchased 6,000 MWh (megawatt hours) of Evergreen Energy Green Power from Ontario Power Generation, which offset approximately 5,400 tonnes of carbon dioxide. In 2006, we entered into an agreement with BC Hydro to purchase approximately 2,100 MWh per year of Green Power Certificates for the next two years, which will offset approximately 1,500 tonnes of carbon dioxide.

Over the next two years, 18 branches in the Vancouver area will offset 100% of their carbon dioxide emissions through the purchase of BC Hydro Green Power Certificates, primarily sourced from EcoLogo® certified small hydro projects.

Carbon dioxide emissions from the combustion of natural gas and fuel oil decreased by 20% since 2004.

(1) All values for direct and indirect CO₂ emissions have been restated to reflect the GHG Protocol Initiative. For indirect CO₂ emissions, Environment Canada’s Annex A: Interim Guidance on Performance Measures for GHG Emissions has also been used.

In 2006, CIBC consumed 786.4 thousand gigajoules (GJ) of energy, a reduction of 3% since 2004.
Raising our environmental standards
Within our retail branch network, energy efficiency and sustainability are key drivers in the selection of everything from lighting to window blinds. In 2006, we pilot tested lighting technology which could reduce energy use by 3% in our branches. We have also installed daylight sensors for ABM lobby lighting and timers for exterior signage to optimize energy savings.

For the third consecutive year, waste audits were carried out at 50 CIBC branches. Total solid waste generated by the branch network in 2006 was an estimated 1,182 tonnes, compared to 1,400 tonnes in 2005. This reduction is associated with a more robust national shredding program, implemented in 2005.

We also conduct environmental site inspections at our branches in order to identify and remediate, where necessary, hazardous materials and environmental risks within our branch network. This program began in 2005, and to date, we have inspected 651 properties across Canada, including 291 in 2006.

In consultation with external stakeholders, CIBC is in the process of formalizing its Environmentally Responsible Procurement Standard. As part of our supplier selection process, we incorporate environmental criteria – including energy efficiency, packaging, recyclability, and product end-of-life options – into our standard request for proposal. Environmental measures are weighted along with other criteria, and factored into the final selection decision. Our chosen suppliers are monitored on an ongoing basis to ensure that they maintain or improve their environmental performance over time.

In an ongoing effort to reduce waste while maximizing efficiencies, CIBC reuses office equipment and furniture wherever feasible. In 2006, approximately 5,376 pieces of surplus furniture were refurbished and redeployed. In addition, the use of black remanufactured toner cartridges was introduced to the procurement process mandate. CIBC is a founding member and the largest corporate supporter of Industry Canada’s Computers for Schools program. Since 1993, we have donated more than 14,300 computers. This year, we donated 528 computers to the program.

Safeguarding Canada’s boreal forest
In consultation with the Canadian Boreal Initiative, the Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) and several industry associations, CIBC is researching how we may be able to contribute to the preservation of Canada’s boreal forest through our policies and practices. We are enhancing our lending standards and procedures by integrating certain principles of biodiversity into the environmental credit risk assessment process. CIBC has also committed to use FSC-certified paper in our 2006 Annual Accountability Report which means that the wood fibre used in this report comes from forests that are managed in an environmentally and socially responsible manner.

Together with several Canadian banks, and with the support of Environment Canada, CIBC has initiated a study to examine policy options for Canadian banks wishing to integrate boreal forest considerations into lending, procurement and other bank activities. This study will be completed in 2007.
In every decision to close a branch, CIBC carefully considers the interests of the community, our clients and employees. This includes:

- Informing the community at large, including clients, employees, community leaders, politicians and government officials, of the decision to close the branch. Notice is given and CIBC holds a community meeting to discuss the decision and to hear suggestions for helping the community to adjust.

- Assisting affected individual clients and groups, identifying their needs and the most appropriate branch in the market to serve them.

Employment in Canada

CIBC is one of Canada's largest employers. In 2006, CIBC and its listed affiliates had approximately 38,500 full-time and part-time employees nationwide. The CIBC group of companies paid almost $2.4 billion in base salaries and benefits to our Canadian workforce in 2006. In addition, we indirectly supported thousands of other jobs in many sectors, from janitorial services to high-tech consultants, through the money invested in outside goods and services. The total for 2006 was $2.1 billion worldwide, with $1.7 billion spent in Canada.
