RISK FACTORS

The following risk factors in the section entitled "Risk Factors" under the heading "1. Risks related to the Issuer's business activities and industry" are amended as follows:

- a) The risk factor entitled "Inflation, Interest Rates and Economic Growth" on page 22 of the Prospectus is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following:

"Inflation, Interest Rates and Economic Growth

As inflation eased in 2024, central banks began reducing interest rates in the back half of the year. While interest rates will gradually begin to provide financial relief to clients, unemployment continues to be a headwind. Commercial office real estate, particularly in the United States, continues to face challenges due to post COVID-19 hybrid work arrangements and high interest rates, negatively impacting office asset valuations. The impact of interest rates on Canadian mortgages is discussed under the risk factor entitled "Canadian consumer debt and the housing market" below and in the "Credit risk – Real estate secured personal lending" section on pages 63-65 of CIBC's 2024 Annual Report. CIBC is closely monitoring the macroeconomic environment and assessing its potential adverse impact on its clients, counterparties and businesses. Further details on the macroeconomic environment are provided in the "Economic and market environment – Outlook for calendar year 2025" section on page 5 of CIBC's 2024

Annual Report, incorporated by reference herein.

These factors may adversely affect commercial office real estate and Canadian mortgages which in turn may have adverse impacts on CIBC's business, results of operations, reputation and financial condition."

- b) The risk factor entitled "Canadian consumer debt and the housing market" on page 23 of the Prospectus is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following:

"Canadian consumer debt and the housing market"

The latest household debt-to-income ratio data from Statistics Canada reflects a continued downward trend that started in the third quarter of 2023. It is at its lowest level since 2016 due to growth in disposable income and slower debt growth. The debt-to-service-ratio is holding stable in recent quarters and is aligned with pre-pandemic levels. Mortgage debt-to-income and service ratios continue to trend at historically high levels, while non-mortgage debt-to-income and service ratios remain at historically low levels, as clients maintain low utilization and high payment rates. Mortgage service ratios could see increases as mortgages continue to renew at higher rates and income growth decelerates from a slowing labour market.

2023 and 2024 year-to-date property sale volumes have slowed to 2018-2019 levels. Sustained high interest rates have maintained pressure on property sales and mortgage growth. While the interest rate cuts in the second half of 2024 will provide some relief, the levels are still high and there is an expected lag on performance relief from each incremental cut. Further interest rate cuts could result in an increase in sales activity and housing prices. Real estate secured lending losses remain low, supported by strong housing prices, with the House Price Index slightly below peak 2022 levels and up year-over-year.

Unemployment rates have increased throughout the year to the highest levels since 2017 (excluding the increase in 2020 and 2021 resulting from the COVID-19 pandemic). Unemployment rates at current levels could elevate non-mortgage debt levels, and has increased unsecured payment pressures, typical of the credit cycle.

In recent years the regulatory environment has seen increased scrutiny, with regulators tightening guidelines and elevating oversight over financial institutions. Changes to guidelines could impact business processes, increasing costs to CIBC and/or fines for non-compliance. Effective 1 November 2023, OSFI revised its Capital Adequacy Requirements and Mortgage Insurer Capital Adequacy Test guidelines, resulting in an increase to risk-weighted assets for mortgages that have been in negative amortization for three consecutive months with loan-to-value over 65%. OSFI is implementing a loan-to-income ("LTI") limit on the portfolios of federally regulated financial institutions ("FRFIs") for all new uninsured mortgage loans. This measure is intended to address the risks associated with high levels of household indebtedness and loans that are vulnerable to shifts in factors for debt serviceability at a portfolio level. LTI will restrict the proportion of originations that can exceed the 4.5x LTI multiple for each institution relative to the competitive position within the market. This measure will augment existing measures such as Minimum Qualifying Rates. OSFI has set the specific LTI limit for CIBC and expects FRFIs to perform their own internal monitoring and management, and report compliance on a quarterly basis beginning in the first quarter of 2025.

These factors may have adverse impacts on CIBC's business, results of operations, reputation and financial condition. Further information on this risk can be found in the section entitled "Credit Risk - Real estate secured personal lending" at pages 63-65 of the CIBC's 2024 Annual Report, incorporated by reference herein."

- c) The risk factor entitled "Climate Risk" on pages 23-24 of the Prospectus is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following:

“Climate Risk

The physical effects of climate change along with regulations designed to mitigate its negative impacts will have a measurable impact on communities and the economy. The physical risks of climate change resulting from severe weather events and systemic issues such as rising sea levels can impact CIBC’s profitability through disruptions in its own operations and damage to critical infrastructure. Transition risks, which arise as society adjusts towards a low-carbon future, can impact the financial health of its clients as changes in policy and technology aimed at limiting global warming can increase their operating costs and reduce profitability, while translating into potentially higher credit losses for CIBC. CIBC is also exposed to reputational risks due to changing stakeholder expectations related to action or inaction in addressing climate-related risks.

In the past year, a number of regulators and standard-setting organizations introduced and updated disclosure frameworks related to climate change risks, as well as environmental and social risks.

On 13 March 2024, the Canadian Sustainability Standards Board released proposed Canadian Sustainability Disclosure Standards (“CSDS”) 1 “General Requirements for Disclosure of Sustainability-related Financial Information” and CSDS 2 “Climate-related Disclosures” for consultation, which align with the International Sustainability Standards Board’s inaugural standards IFRS S1 “General Requirements for Disclosure of Sustainability-related Financial Information” (“IFRS S1”) and IFRS S2 “Climate-related Disclosures” (“IFRS S2”). The proposals include certain Canadian-specific modifications to the effective dates and transition relief of IFRS S1 and IFRS S2, including the deferral of the initial application by one year to CIBC’s reporting period ending 31 October 2026, to the extent that the proposed CSDS become effective in Canada.

On 20 March 2024, OSFI published updates to Guideline B-15 on Climate Risk Management (“Guideline B-15”), to align its minimum mandatory climate-related financial disclosure expectations with IFRS S2. OSFI is expected to continue to review Guideline B-15 as practices and standards evolve. Guideline B-15 continues to be initially effective for CIBC for its reporting period ending 31 October 2024 for certain disclosure elements, to be included in its 2024 Climate Report which is expected to be issued in March 2025.

On 20 March 2024, OSFI also released the Climate Risk Returns to collect standardized climate-related data on emissions and exposures. The purpose of the Climate Risk Returns is to collect standardized climate-related emissions and exposure data, directly from all institutions to enable OSFI to carry out evidence-based policy development, regulation, and prudential supervision as it pertains to climate risk management.

On 20 June 2024, the Canadian federal government enacted Bill C-59, which contains anti-greenwashing amendments to the Competition Act, to regulate misleading environmental claims. In addition, Bill C-59 provides third parties with a private right of action, with leave from the Competition Tribunal, as of 20 June 2025, for environmental claims that are alleged to have violated the misleading advertising provisions of the Act.

Additionally, the European Commission adopted the European Sustainability Reporting Standards in 2023 for entities subject to the Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive. These requirements will apply to CIBC as early as 2026 for certain CIBC subsidiaries. Potential divergence among the regulators in disclosure expectations, coupled with the pace at which the regulatory landscape changes, pose operational risks to CIBC, which could have an adverse effect on its business or results of operations. CIBC continues to monitor these developments and evolve its approach to support future regulatory requirements.

For additional information, please see the risk factor entitled “Environmental and Social Risk” below.

Despite CIBC’s relatively low direct carbon emissions, compliance by many of its clients with new carbon emission standards could result in operational stress for those clients, which in turn may have a negative impact on CIBC's results of operations."

- d) The risk factor entitled "Tax Reform" on pages 25-26 of the Prospectus is deleted in its entirety and replaced with the following:

"Tax Reform

Bill C-69, which included certain tax measures from the 2024 federal budget and the 2023 fall economic statement, as well as other tax measures, including the Global Minimum Tax Act ("GMTA") was also enacted on 20 June 2024. The GMTA implements the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development's ("OECD") Pillar Two 15% global minimum tax regime in Canada. Additional proposals in respect of the GMTA were released on 12 August 2024. The Pillar Two rules are in different stages of adoption globally by more than 135 OECD member countries. Canada and certain other countries have enacted Pillar Two legislation that will apply to CIBC beginning in fiscal year 2025. A number of other countries in which CIBC operates are in different stages of adopting the Pillar Two regime. At this time, CIBC does not expect Pillar Two to have a material impact on the consolidated effective tax rate.

The tax environment continues to evolve with the potential for more near-term tax legislative changes that could impact CIBC given the incoming U.S. administration and the upcoming Canadian federal election in 2025. Further information may be found in the "Financial results review – Taxes" and "Accounting and control matters – Accounting developments" sections of CIBC's 2024 Annual Report and Note 18 to CIBC's 2024 audited consolidated financial statements in its 2024 Annual Report, incorporated by reference herein."
