Strategy overview

Invests in a growth-oriented, all-in-one portfolio solution that provides diversified exposure to global equity and fixed income markets across developed and emerging regions. With a higher allocation to equities, this ETF is designed for long-term capital appreciation while enhancing diversification within a broader portfolio.

Why CAGR?

Designed for investors seeking a simple, growth-focused portfolio through an all-in-one solution.

Global diversification in one ETF

Access equity and fixed income opportunities globally through a single professionally managed portfolio solution.

Access disciplined portfolio construction

Uses a research-driven investment process to select and weight equities based on attractive valuations and strong profitability, with the goal of enhancing long-term returns. The fixed income sleeve provides additional diversification across government and corporate issuers.

Active management at a competitive price

Benefit from disciplined, experienced portfolio management and ongoing oversight in a convenient, competitively priced ETF structure.

What this adds to your portfolio

- Simplifies portfolio construction with a growth-orientated all-in-one ETF, designed to support investors' long-term financial goals.
- Provides efficient access to professional management through a convenient, cost-efficient ETF structure.
- Delivers global exposure without the complexity of managing multiple holdings.

Avantis' investment philosophy

Avantis strategies are designed to provide disciplined, transparent access to global equity markets. Each fund applies a consistent process that combines academic insights with practical implementation. The investment approach is anchored in:

- Diversification across regions, sectors, and company sizes.
- Integrated evaluation of current market prices and a broad set of company financial fundamentals, such as book value, earnings, and cash flow.
- Emphasis on companies trading at lower valuations and with higher profitability characteristics.
- Systematic, repeatable portfolio management designed to maintain efficiency and help manage costs.
